

WOMAN CAUGHT IN OPIUM JOINT HAD RICH GEMS

She and Two Men
Claimed They Were
Only Slumming.

GAVE NAME OF SMITH.

Woman and Man Claiming to Be Her Husband Held with Others.

One woman in a costly gown and wearing rich jewels, and accompanied by a handsome dressed man, was taken from an alleged opium joint in East One Hundred and Twentieth street today, when detectives descended upon the place and arrested every man and woman found in the place.

Roundsmen Quinn, with Detectives Kennedy and Gow, of Inspector Dillon's staff, passing the place when a bright light shone from the window on the top floor, as some one moved the blind aside to let in air.

"I thought the house was vacant," ventured Quinn.

"Only Slumming," She Cried.

The two detectives and roundsmen were joined by Detective Hanson, of the East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth Street Station, and the four men assaulted the door. It was fastened by a heavy chain, but was forced open.

As the four policemen rushed into the room three women stood huddled in a corner. Here and there about the floor lay men asleep. The women were terrified. One of them began screaming:

"I am only here slumming! I am only here slumming! Please do not arrest me!"

The police first arrested a man who said he was Samuel Waldman, twenty-three, of No. 20 East Sixty-fifth street, and Samuel Wilson, thirty, of No. 22 West Sixty-fifth street, who were charged with running an opium joint.

The police then told the three women and eight other men that they, too, were under arrest. "You are all charged with disorderly conduct," Quinn explained.

At this announcement, the woman who had begged not to be arrested ran forward, and would have fallen on her knees had it not been for one of the detectives.

The woman's gown and hat were of red, and as though she had been attending a social event. Her dress was in rare contrast with that of the other women. She was still pleading with the police when a man, whose clothes bespoke culture, came forward and said:

"My Wife," Says Escort.

"I am Ralph C. Smith, a contractor, of No. 124 Webster avenue, the Bronx. This is my wife. We came here slumming. There is no cause to arrest us."

The female were taken to the East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street station, as was another prisoner, James B. Moss, a lawyer, of No. 125 West One Hundred and Twenty-second street, who had been arrested while consulting a client in the house. The other prisoners were Isaac Cohen, Joe Miller, Nellie Wilson and Marie Munroe.

At the station-house Moss was held out by Albert Curley, and then the three women were taken to the East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street station.

Mrs. Smith, looking her brightest, pleaded with the Magistrate that she and her husband were only slumming. She denied smoking, and asked that she be let to go home. The police said they had been married only a year. They were in the East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street opium joint and smoking there, as was Cohen, Miller, Nellie Wilson and Marie Munroe.

Waldman and Wilson, the alleged proprietors, were held for trial, charged with keeping and maintaining an opium den.

CONFESSES STABBING HIS WIFE IN STREET.

Prisoner Declares He Had a Right
To, Alleging She Was Living
With Another Man.

Charles Cohen, thirty-one years old, of No. 40 East Houston street, was today held in $1,000 bail for trial by Magistrate Steinert in the Essex Market Court, charged with felonious assault on his wife, Sophie Cohen, of No. 27 Henry street. Mrs. Cohen appeared in court with her head completely bandaged up so that she could hardly see or speak. She charged her husband, from whom she has been separated for some time, with having stabbed her on the head and face and neck while in a jealous rage at Henry and Montgomery streets last night.

Cohen admitted having stabbed his wife, but declared he had a moral, if not a legal right to punish her because she was living with another man. The Magistrate did not agree with him, however, and sent him for trial. Patrolmen Brogan and Walsh, who arrested Cohen, produced a threatening letter which they say they took from him, and in which he declared that he would kill his wife.

STAPPO FOOLED WITH THE PLUMBER'S PIPES.

He Is Now in a Hospital and the Plumbers Are Under Bail.

James Stappo, a laborer employed on the erection of a new building at Central Park West and Eighty-sixth street, today meddled with some pipes the plumbers were putting in on the third floor. Because he didn't leave them alone as soon as he was told to the plumbers—Wilbert Ashley and Thomas Conway—went for him. Stappo picked up a hammer to defend himself, but it was taken from him by one of the men, who smashed it down on his skull.

Ashley and Conway in fury rushed downstairs and started to escape. Bicycle Policeman Kaufman caught Ashley in the street. Conway went into the Park, where he was pursued and arrested by Policeman Dugan, of the West One Hundredth street station.

Magistrate Moss, in West Side Court, held the plumbers in $500 each. Stappo was taken to Roosevelt Hospital, suffering from a fractured skull.

CAPTAIN UPHOLDS NEGROES.

Lyon, of Twenty-fifth Infantry,
Blames Brownsville Ruffians.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Capt. Samuel P. Lyon, of Company D, Twenty-fifth Infantry, before the Senate Committee on Military Affairs, in the Brownsville investigation yesterday, said as his opinion that negro soldiers were not guilty of "snatching up" the town, but that the firing was done by the "rougher element of citizens."

Senator Foraker asked him if he had not participated in the attack upon the town. Lyon said he had not, but that undoubtedly some people in Brownsville thought the citizens of the Twenty-fifth Infantry must have known all about it before and after the affair, and many persons seemed to think that Capt. Macklin may have been implicated.

At the station-house Moss was held out by Albert Curley, and then the three women were taken to the East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street station.

SAILOR ESCORT AT PRIEST'S FUNERAL

Father Parks, Former Chaplain of the Brooklyn, Was Beloved in Navy.

The funeral of the Rev. Father Charles H. Parks, parish priest of the Church of St. Thomas Aquinas, West Farms road and Tremont avenue, the Bronx, took place today. Some high mass was held in the church, where more than 200 priests taking part in the Gregorian chant. The Rev. Father Hughes, pastor of St. Mary's Church in Grand street, and a life-long friend of the dead man, was the celebrant.

Archbishop Farley, Bishop Cusick, Mer. Lavelle and Mr. Mooney took part in the ceremonies. The church was thronged for an hour before the services began. At the close of the mass the funeral cortege was met at the Twenty-third street ferry by 80 sailors from the New York Navy Yard. They served as an escort to Calvary Cemetery.

Father Parks was found dead in bed on Saturday night, when several of his parishioners called to see him. He had not been well for several months, but his ailment was not regarded as serious. His death was due to heart trouble. He had been parish priest of the Bronx church since his retirement as chaplain from the United States Navy, just after the close of the war with Spain.

In the navy Father Parks counted every man in the service among his friends. He was known personally to nearly all of the old men-of-war's men, as well as the officers of the navy. He was chaplain on the Brooklyn during the war with Spain and witnessed the destruction of the Spanish fleet off Santiago in July, 1898.

HARVARD NOT LIKELY TO GET KAISER'S SON.

Restrictions of Royalty Would Practically Make Prince a Hermit in University.

BERLIN, April 3.—Count von Eulenburg, Emperor William's chief court marshal, who is in constant attendance on the Emperor, says he has not heard of anything tending to confirm the report that the latter intended sending his fifth son, Prince Oscar, to Harvard.

The Emperor, it was learned from other sources, has often discussed the propriety of sending Prince August, his fourth son, to Harvard, without having come to a positive decision.

The Emperor did not wish Prince August to go and some of the officers of the household and also some Americans with whom the Emperor talked believed it would be most difficult for the Prince to really share university life in the United States, as he would constantly be accompanied by his adjutant, live in a separate house, have his own establishment, and would never be able to detach himself from the distractions of the birth.

THREATENS ARRESTS IF CARS ARE DIRTY.

Health Inspector of Harrison Orders
Some Vehicles Off the Line.

NEWARK, N. J., April 3.—Health Inspector John T. McClure, of Harrison, proposes to compel the Public Service Corporation to run clean cars on the Kearny line instead of the dirty and unsanitary ones that have been in use on that road. The cars of the Kearny line have been running through Harrison only since Monday last, the route having been changed owing to the closing of the Clay street bridge over the river.

Inspector McClure looked over each car as it passed through Harrison, and the result was that seven were ordered to be taken off and cleaned. When the crews were told that they would be arrested if they did not comply with the inspector's demands they obeyed orders. McClure also notified the officers of the company that if the dirty cars were returned in that condition the crews would be arrested.

The Kearny Board of Health has tried to have the cars cleaned, but has so far got nothing but promises.
